Maj. Gen. Willoughby Lauds M'Arthur's Rule Of Conquered Japanese

More interested in talking about the achievements of his chief, than about his own distinguished war record, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, crack intelligence officer for General MacArthur from Bataan to Tokyo, declared in an interview here Friday evening that MacArthur's conduct of the Japanese occupation would have won for him an immortal place in history without his previous combat record.

The general came to Gettysburg Friday afternoon as the week-end guest of Mrs. E. S. Lewars and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Singmaster, Seminary ridge. He will return to Washington, D. C., Sunday afternoon and on Monday will board a plane which will take him back to Tokyo and General MacArthur. He consented to an interview by a reporter for The Gettysburg Times Friday evening at Mrs. Lewars' residence.

Has Many Decorations

General Willoughby, who wears all the important army decorations given by this nation excepting the Congressional Medal of Honor, is generally credited with being in a large measure responsible for the low casualty rate of MacArthur's land invasions through the thoroughness of his intelligence work.

With coveted decorations from China, the Dutch and Russia yet to be bestowed, General Willoughby already possesses the Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, the Philippine DSM, the Order of the British Empire, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon and the Presidential unit citation with two bronze clasps. These decorations are in addition to those he accumulated in Western Front duty under MacArthur in World War I. That list included the French Croix de Guerre and Italian and British awards. South American countries also have added to his collection of medals.

Too 'A Few Chances'

The Distinguished Service Cross was given for action in the Palau Islands "where I took a few chances," the general explained in answer to the reporter's questions. The Silver Star was given for Willoughby's emergency action on January 24, 1942, on Bataan when he took command of a Philippine battalion "and kept them going for a day."

The DSM, the general said, covered his war services "generally," but the citation read to him at General MacArthur's headquarters in February, 1944, when the award was made did not use such modest terms.

The general was cited for "exceptionally meritorious service to the government in a position of great responsibility." It went on to say that General Willoughby "speedily and with brilliant resourcefulness planned and put into action necessary agencies for providing the command with reliable and comprehensive information concerning the enemy in vast and inaccessible areas."

Praises MacArthur

Returning again to his emphatic praise for General MacArthur's occupation policies in Japan, General Willoughby said: "The situation in Japan today is very similar to that in the Philippines from 1904 to 1908. Our fair treatment then of the Philippine insurrectionists won them over to us, and, when the time came, they fought gallantly at our side."

PORK SCARCE ON MART TODAY

Prices remained about the same on the Farmers' Market today, but supplies, particularly of pork, were light. There were plenty of chickens to be had, ranging from 55 to 58 cents a pound and eggs were in good supply, selling at 45 cents a dozen.

Market vendors reported that hogs were scarce, and several have stopped butchering. There was a light supply of sausage at 40 and 42 cents a pound and ribs at 28 cents. Scramble sold from 15 to 18 cents a pound and soups were 25 cents. Lard was 18 cents a pound. The price of apples remained the same as in recent weeks, with York Imperials selling at 35 cents a quart, peck measure and 70 cents a half peck. Delicious were priced the same, and Rome Beauty at 40 and 75 cents.

Large potatoes were 35 cents a half peck and 30 cents for small sized. Cabbage still sold for six cents a pound. Turnips were offered at 10 cents a quart measure and sauerkraut at 35 cents a quart.

Large angelfood and other cakes were $1 and $1.20; bread, 15 cents a loaf; cottage cheese 40 cents a quart and potato salad 40 cents a quart.

NO CHANGE IN RED CROSS FUND CAMPAIGN TOTAL

The $561 total reported by the Adams county chapter, American Red Cross for the first day of its 1946 appeal, which opened Friday, remained unchanged today, but Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary, said the drive was progressing, with workers busy on the canvass. No additional reports are expected before Monday.

Unofficially, it was reported that the High street school had completed its canvass, and had subscribed 100 per cent to the Red Cross appeal. Canvass of the court house, in charge of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, was also practically completed.

Asks for Reports

Miss McMillan today requested that workers and canvassers report as soon as they have completed their assigned territory. The chapter hopes to have the drive completed and the goal of $14,050 reached by March 15.

The local chapter was anxious to learn if any Adams county service men who were wounded in action had been patients in the 109th Station Hospital, which cared for the injured from Bougainville, Salpau, Guam, New Georgia, Okinawa and Leyte.

The appeal poster this year is a picture of Miss Peggy Neel, Red Cross hospital service worker, and a Pacific Beach, Cal., former manager of a theatre at Portland, Ore. Miss Neel was attached to the 109th Station Hospital in 1943, at the time the picture was taken. There have been 1,400,000 copies of the picture distributed throughout the United States as the 1946 appeal poster.

Stuart K. Holcomb, head basketball coach and assistant football coach for the army teams at West Point, will be the speaker at the testimonial dinner to be held by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce for the Gettysburg high school basketball players, their coaches, managers and cheer leaders.

Mr. Holcomb is a former Ohio State football star with the teams of 1929, 1930 and 1931. He coached two years each at Findlay college, Muskingum and Miami university, all in Ohio and at Washington and Jefferson in Pennsylvania. STRESSES NEED FOR RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTIONS

The need for religious education among students of high school age was stressed Friday night at a meeting of the local organization of the National Council of Catholic Women held in the St. Francis Xavier Catholic school social rooms.

"At no time in their life do youngsters need religious education more than during the high school years," the Rev. Fr. John Metz, assistant pastor of St. Francis Xavier parish, told the NCCW members. "It is during that period that the youngsters are beginning to face their biggest problems in life and it is the time they need knowledge of their religion the most."

Weekly Classes

Pointing out that religious education is part of the parochial school system throughout the eight grammar school grades Father Metz added, "There are those who may think that a student would learn all he needs to know of religion during those eight years. But that is not true, for in high school the youngsters will be coming to grips with the world in a more practical way than during their more sheltered grammar school years."

War Not Over For Red Cross As Calls For War-Connected Services Increase Steadily

The war may be over as far as the shooting is concerned, but it is a long way from over for the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Problems brought about by the war are increasing the work of the county chapter, with more and more men returning with problems that the Red Cross can assist them in solving.

While the post-war work is piling into the offices of the Red Cross, the local organization is finding a great number of its war-time services still being called upon by the men who are making up the occupation armies training in the U. S. or on assignments overseas.

See New Record In '46

A "typical day" in the county office of the Red Cross explains why the local chapter expects its record of 2,586 home service cases during 1945 to be shattered in 1946. Of the cases, 1,399 were classified as Army and 464 Navy. They included everything from checking up on why son Jimmy did not write

CHERRYMEN ARE DINNER GUESTS OF CANNING FIRM

Adams county's cherry growers were told their production and quality were among the highest in the country Friday night and that "you can produce higher quality, more per acre and at a lower cost but you'll have to use different tactics from the ones you've used during the last 15 years."

County Agent M. T. Hartman and John A. Ruef of the State College extension staff told the more than 200 persons at the annual cherry growers' dinner given by the C. H. Musselman company at Biglerville of the possibilities of better crops in the future but warned that new and improved methods must be used if the quality and quantity of the fruit are to improve.

J. O. Pepper and L. O. Weaver, of the State College extension staff outlined some of those new methods in presenting a spray program to take care of insects and cherry leaf spot which developed rapidly in the county's orchards during last season. Ruef added the need for fertilizer and cover crops if the trees are to resume their strength after last season's difficulties.

Trees Are Weakened

Sprays at two week intervals or less were urged for the coming summer by the extension specialists with Mr. Hartman adding that "if it warms up in March as it did last year and we have to start spraying March 28, we'll do it and keep on spraying every two weeks thereafter. It will probably mean purchasing additional sprayers and maybe hiring additional men but we've got to lick the leaf spot and the maggots."

Last year was the first in which leaf spot badly damaged county trees with rainy weather throughout the growing season making conditions ideal for the development of the fungus, the growers were told. Early defoliation of many of the county's trees occurred last year "and they're bound to be weak. Just how soon the trees will snap back to normal I don't know. I hope we have enough fertilizer to help them as we should," County Agent Hartman said.

The growers were urged to spray the leaves on the ground in their (Please turn to Page 2)

First Car Owners In County Paid $2 Registration Fees, Early Record Book Reveals

A small book in the office of the Adams county prothonotary, no longer used and seldom referred to, contains a record of the first automobiles registered in Adams county.

H. M. Rowe of Baltimore, who spent his summers near Gettysburg, was the first to register his car, and thus acquire the number 1 license. He was the owner of a Stanley steamer, which he registered June 18, 1903. The fee was $2 and the license was good indefinitely.

However, in 1905, the records reveal, the fee was boosted to $5 just before the licensing was taken over by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and subsequent registrations issued at Harrisburg.

It is interesting to note that the engine number of the Stanley registered by Mr. Rowe was 314. W. E. Kapp was the prothonotary who registered the "gas buggies" of 1903 and 1904.

Ignored Registration

The old record also recalls to Gettysburgians who drove automobiles in those early days of the car, that, unconsciously or otherwise, they operated their vehicles for a year or so without bothering to obtain licenses, or registering them, as it was then termed.

"There were police in those days; the borough of Gettysburg had two police officers, but they had no instructions regarding the registration of automobiles, and no attention was paid to whether the cars were registered or not," George F. Eberhart, owner of the Hotel Eberhart and also the first man here to own an automobile, said today.

Other automobiles visiting or passing through Gettysburg were noticed to have license tags on them; more and more Keystone states bought automobiles, and the Gettysburgians, perhaps with a little state urging, bethought themselves to register their cars.

Service Men and Vets

First thing in the morning may be a continuation of the previous day's work. A soldier is home on a 30-day furlough. His brother was stricken and died. Two weeks of a precious 30 days are to be spent under quarantine because of the nature of the brother's illness.

The case is the kind the Red Cross likes to unravel. A sister of the soldier called the Harrisburg Red Cross. The family was unable to send out mail or otherwise make known its needs due to the quarantine. So the sister took it upon herself to speak to the Red Cross. In event of inclement weather the welcome and serenade will take place sometime next week.

NEW RECORDS SET BY LIBRARY CIRCULATION

With the volume of circulation exceeding in February the high record set in January when the library opened, Miss Kathryn Oller, county librarian, reported to the library board of directors Friday evening that circulation has totaled 12,727 volumes since the library opened January 7.

Reporting plans for the beginning of bookmobile service Monday morning and announcing the opening of two new book distributing stations—in York Springs and Arendtsville—Miss Oller stressed the need for more books, especially children's books.

With the initiation of bookmobile service, the demands for children's books will increase greatly, Miss Oller pointed out. Board members inspected the new bookmobile in the library garage after the meeting and found it already loaded with 400 books on temporary wooden shelves ready for the first trip to 14 schools Monday.

Big Demand For Juvenile Books Naming of the bookmobile will be left up to the schoolchildren of the county. Its capacity will be tripled when permanent steel shelving can be secured and installed.

Miss Oller's report to the directors Friday evening showed that nearly 400 additional books have been accessioned during February bringing to 3,296 the total number of volumes (Please Turn to Page 8)

FISSEL-PARENT NUPTIALS HELD

At a ceremony Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Killan's church, Hartford, Wis., the Rev. Henry Steblin united in marriage Jesse L. Fissel of Gettysburg and Miss Amy Parent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parent. The bride chose her mother's birthday for the ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline, outlined with seed pearls, tight bodice and long train. Her long net veil was edged with lace and caught with orange blossoms to form a cap. She carried an armful of roses.

Her only sister was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Joyce Kraut, Beatrice Burke and Lorraine MacPherson. They were all gowned alike in french-rose taffeta quaintly fashioned with ruffles. They wore short white gloves and headbands of matching flowers. They carried colonial bouquets of violets and pink (Please Turn to Page 3)

Laymen To Meet Monday Evening

A program of activities—to be devised from ideas expressed by men's organizations of every church in the town—will be formulated Monday night by the Gettysburg Religious Laymen's association at a meeting to be held in the YWCA at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Thomas L. Cline, president of the association, said today that full representation from every church organization affiliated with the laymen's group is expected to be present. The representatives, three from each church, were asked at the February meeting to secure from their own organizations ideas for activities to be carried out by the town group.

The various programs suggested Monday night will be discussed by the entire group and the most practical will be adopted as a program of activities for the town-wide organization.

Colonel John S. Rice Chosen By Democrats For Governor's Post

The Times received the following statement by telephone from Colonel Rice, from Harrisburg, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, after he had returned from Columbus, Ohio:

"I deeply appreciate the honor which the Democratic party has conferred on me in recommending me as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. I realize the responsibility of the position and I intend to wage an active campaign. If I am elected to this high office I will devote all my energy and my best efforts to giving Pennsylvania the best possible administration."

News of the selection of Colonel John S. Rice, West Broadway, as the state Democratic choice for that party's nomination for governor, spread rapidly through Gettysburg late Friday afternoon. First news of Rice's selection came in a telephone Harrisburg, March 2 (AP)—Col. John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, today was the unanimous choice of Democratic state and local leaders for the party's nomination for governor.

Rice was chosen by more than a score of leaders called together by State Chairman J. Warren Mickle to suggest a ticket "to Democratic voters for their consideration" at the May 21 primary.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, previously was endorsed for renomination for a third term. Other places on the slate went to: State Sen. John H. Dent, of Westmoreland county, for lieutenant governor.

Former Sgt. Al Schmid, of Philadelphia, blind marine hero, for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

"Everything Harmonious" "Everything was very harmonious," Mickle told newsmen after the conclusion of the three-hour meeting of leaders yesterday—the fourth in a month.

Auditor General G. Harold Wagner, who joined Mickle in making the announcement, said he withdrew as a gubernatorial candidate in favor of Rice and is for him "100 per cent, politically and financially."

Wagner has had nomination petitions circulating since February 9 and told newsmen a week earlier he was withholding announcement of his candidacy for at least a week to give leaders a chance to agree. Later he issued a statement that Guffey was spearheading a "stop-Wagner-for-governor movement."

Supporters of Federal Judge Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, and Judge Michael J. Eagan, of Scranton, both considered for the nomination, also withdrew their candidacies in favor of Rice. State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black, another potential candidate, concurred.

Gettysburg Graduate

One of the conferees said the agreement on the ticket by leaders representing "every faction of the party" means all party chieftains have agreed on candidates prior to the primary for the first time in more than a decade.

A manufacturer and apple grower, Rice recently returned to civilian life after serving in the Army Air Forces in World War II. A native of Adams county, Rice was graduated from Gettysburg college after his education was interrupted to serve in the army in World War I.

The 47-year-old former state senator also served two terms in the upper branch of the legislature and was named majority leader in 1937.

Dent, the only active candidate for lieutenant governor is the youngest Democrat in the Senate as well as minority leader. He is serving his third term.

Schmid previously had been inducted as a candidate for the state Senate from Philadelphia.

Guffey said at Washington the ticket was "perfectly satisfactory" to him.

"I'll take great pleasure in cooperating with them in the campaign," he added, "and together I think we'll put it over in the fall election."

Here And There News Collected At Random

The series of articles by Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, on the 1920 Republican National Convention and the late U. S. Senator Boies Penrose, published exclusively in The Gettysburg Times, has attracted widespread interest.

Numerous requests have been received by The Times from subscribers and others for extra copies of the series and some have asked whether the articles would be published in book form.

Governor Edward Martin wrote Mr. Taylor as follows: "I have read your Penrose articles with great interest, indeed. It is a fine job, and its too bad more people will not have the opportunity to read them. Kind personal regards."

Dr. Milton H. Valentine, retired member of the college faculty wrote Mr. Taylor as follows: "I write to say that I very much enjoyed your series of articles on Senator Penrose. They were informative and corrective of false impressions, in which I shared, created evidently by false rumor and the pens of irresponsible newsmen and magazine writers."

"You have a remarkable facility in practical narrative writing, a much more difficult form (Please Turn to Page 8)

Hold Owner Of Gun In Gianni Slaying

Pittsburgh, March 2 (AP)—Police reported today that a Hill district poolroom proprietor held for questioning in the Gus Gianni slaying of last Jan. 17 admitted ownership of a gun they believe was used in the killing. They quoted the man as saying, however, that the gun had not been out of his possession for 27 years.

Detective Inspector Fred Good said the gun, along with others, was subjected to ballistics tests when it was submitted for registration recently. These tests, the officer asserted, showed the gun, a .45-caliber pistol, was the one which fired the fatal bullets.

In a raid on the poolroom yesterday, officers took in custody the proprietor and 29 other men on various charges and indicated all would be questioned about Gianni.

Teachers Colleges May Help Veterans

Harrisburg, March 2 (AP)—The 14 state teachers' colleges in the Commonwealth had under consideration today a plan to branch out into first-year general college courses to accommodate veterans denied admission to the Pennsylvania State college.

Presidents of the colleges agreed here yesterday to urge their respective boards of trustees to request the state superintendent of public instruction and the governor to lift restrictions on the strictly teacher-education courses.

Dr. Henry Klonowor of the Department of Public Instruction said the presidents unanimously backed the program because it offered "a large measure of relief to those students who can't start their first year at State college."

Penn State, he explained, has promised priority for admission to veterans who take their first year at a teachers' college.

Klonowor estimated the teachers' colleges capacity at "maybe 1,300 to 2,000."

CHAMBERSBURG NIPS CARLISLE FOR 3RD TITLE

Chambersburg high school gained a third straight Southern Pennsylvania conference championship Friday evening by coming from behind to defeat Carlisle 37-22 in the inter-division playoff on the Gettysburg college floor before approximately 1,300 fans.

The Trojans were given quite a scare in the first half when Coach Hendrickson's Carlisle boys outplayed them and set the pace until the last few minutes of the second period when the Green and White defense fell apart. From then on it was all Chambersburg and the outcome was never in doubt.

Chambersburg started fast on a foul by Gillespie, a long field goal by Leshler and a foul by Young. Carlisle came right back to take the lead on an over-head shot by Miller and fouls by Blosser, Miller and again Blosser. The first period ended with Carlisle leading 5-4.

Carlisle Cracks
Carlisle hiked its lead to 10-4 early in the second quarter when the Trojans looked like anything but champions. Blosser looped a goal, Washington a foul and Blosser a one-hander to give the Cumberland puntians their biggest margin. After playing fine defensive ball the Carlisle team suddenly cracked, Palmer getting a "peep" for the first Trojan score in more than seven minutes. Leshler also netted an easy shot. Burkholder looped one of two free tosses and Leshler and Miller matched goals. Sellers looped a foul for the Trojans. Palmer, Kane and again Palmer landed easy shots in succession for Chambersburg to put the Trojans in front 17-13 at half time.

Coach Beard's outfit quickly sewed up the decision in the third period. After Kane and Blosser had matched free throws Sellers, Leshler and Kane connected for goals in quick order and from then on Carlisle fought a hard but hopeless battle. The third game ended with Chambersburg on top 30-16.

Both teams were erratic in their shooting in the final period although Coach Beard made free use of his reserves which also stymied the Trojan attack.

Both In Playoffs
Top scorer for Chambersburg was Leshler, guard, with 12 points. Kane and Schuchman, reserves, put up ice games for the winners. Blosser was easily the top performer for Carlisle as well as the team's high scorer.

In winning their third successive top diadem the Chambersburg outfit has tied the record established by Gettysburg high teams who took the titles in 1941, 1942 and 1943 and followed through with District 3 championships. Chambersburg has won the District 3 title twice and all open its campaign for a third round next Friday by meeting Middletown at Dickinson college. Under the PIAA ruling Carlisle will join in the PIAA playoffs and will meet East Hempfield, of Lancaster county, next Friday at Steelton.

Gettysburg basketball fans will have their final opportunity to witness a game on a local court next Wednesday evening when East Berlin, Adams County league champion and Greencastle, Franklin county loop titlists, meet on the Gettysburg high school floor in a Class B, District 3 PIAA playoff game.

Each team compiled classy records this season, each winning 15 tilts while losing but three.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, March 2 (P)—What's this story we hear about the All-America Football conference, originally planned to give the player a "break," trying to get together with the National league on player contracts? . . . Maybe it will be denied by all hands, but the guy who told us claims Jimmy Crowley got in touch with Bert Bell and asked how about a "mutual agreement on 1946 contracts." . . . And we don't know why the guy would invent such a yarn, especially since he added that some of the stars who had jumped to the A.A. were jumping back at higher N.F.L. offers. . . . No matter how you look at this tale, it seems to prove that both leagues already are feeling the effects of the salary battle and salaries, they claim, amount to about 80 per cent of a club's operating expenses.

HE'S NOT PUT OUT
The Detroit Tigers' Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouse are living in a Florida Congressman's house in Lakeland. . . . As Diz explains it: "You never can tell when Michigan might want to put me in the Legislature."

At Valentine, general manager of the Roosevelt raceway, has been touring the south looking for a permanent winter training track for the nags that trot or pace on Long Island all summer. Right now the choice seems to be between Orlando, Fla., and Camp Wheeler, near Macon, Ga. . . . Star basketball scorer of the University of Connecticut is Walt Dropp, whose shots do what his name says. . . . Warren, Pa., high school must have set some sort of a basketball record recently when it won five straight games and allowed the opposing team just 22 points in each.

2 HAVE CHANCE FOR BIG TROPHY
New York, March 2 (P)—A team trophy that has gone unclaimed throughout the 25-year history of the meet, because no squad ever has won the five titles necessary to retire it, may find a permanent home tonight in the IC4A track and field championships at Madison Square Garden.

New York university and Manhattan college have four legs on the coveted cup and either of them could wrap it up for keeps by defeating the defending champions from the U. S. Military Academy in the indoor carnival starting at 7:45 p. m. (EST).

But that looms as a chore of considerable proportions since the Cadets, who scored an unprecedented 73½ points a year ago, will be shooting for their third straight team title with a squad still largely intact.

Navy, the IC4A outdoor champion and runner-up in this affair the past two years, also figures as a threat in the scramble for team honors despite its poor showing in the national AAU meet one week ago.

Prefabricated Dorms At State
State College, Pa., March 2 (P)—Fourteen prefabricated dormitory buildings, accommodating 840 married veterans, and 50 additional trailers for married ex-GIs will be installed on the Pennsylvania State college campus in time for occupancy in the fall semester.

President R. D. Hetzel, in making the announcement, said the units will come from the Baltimore area through a lease arrangement between Penn State and the federal public housing authority.

Boxer "Critical" After Knockout
Philadelphia, March 2 (P)—Nat Hines, Philadelphia light heavyweight, was reported unconscious this morning and in "very critical condition" at Episcopal hospital after being knocked out last night in the final round of a six-round bout with Billy Eck, of Allentown, Pa.

Hospital officials said Hines suffered a concussion of the brain. Hines fought Eck in the semi-final bout of a boxing show at the Philadelphia arena as a substitute for Jimmy Davenport, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

After Hines was knocked out, Dr. Ralph Lanciano, Pennsylvania state athletic commission physician, examined him and ordered him sent to the hospital.

There are approximately 250 commercial airports in the United States.

SPRY AT 72—Sturdy old Honus Wagner, who became a baseball immortal by leading the National League in batting eight years between 1900 and 1911, swings the hickory at the San Bernardino, Calif., spring training camp of the Pittsburgh Pirates, with whom he is a coach. Wagner celebrated his 72nd birthday Feb. 25 and said he is rearing to go on the 1946 season.

ARENDTSTVILLE DRIBBLERS SET GOOD RECORDS

Starting the season with one veteran, Robert Allison, Coach H. Vernon Blough moulded a formidable basketball quintet at Arendtville vocational high school for the third successive year. The vocational passers were gleaned from a male student population of 45 to take 22nd place in the Adams county Scholastic League this season after annexing the loop championship in 1944 and 1945 by being undefeated in county competition. Blough's five-year coaching record now includes 81 victories and 14 losses.

Robert Allison, fleet-footed forward, proved the spearhead of the season's campaign by amassing a total of 328 points in 19 games for an average of more than 17 points a game. The Arendtville dribbler has been outstanding in four years of competition and is ranked as one of the outstanding forwards of the county.

The Arendtville squad will be intact next season with the exception of Allison. A number of freshmen and underclassmen were coming along rapidly toward the end of the season and should be seasoned enough to hold starting roles in another year.

During the past season the Arendtville team scored 786 points to its opponents' 516. Over a three-year span the Apple-Pickers won 50 and lost 11, only three being in county competition.

Purses Held Up In Godoy-Savold Fight

Chicago, March 2 (P)—Arturo Godoy, the South American heavyweight and Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., will have to wait until next week to learn whether they'll get paid for appearing in the Chicago stadium ring last night.

Godoy was to receive 30 per cent of the net receipts of $23,020.26, and Savold 25 per cent, but their purses were held up by the Illinois Athletic Commission, probably on Monday.

The bout was a succession of clinches, with few punches thrown, as the two apparently awaited each other's attack, to the disappointment of 7,905 fans who paid a gross $32,046 to see the stadium program.

Widow Is Aided
A widow of a veteran comes in. Her husband has died, but no insurance, no pension have been sent her as yet. The papers have been sent to Washington and the pension and insurance should soon be due, but in the meantime she has no money. The Red Cross takes care of her until her regular income from the insurance and pension starts.

The Red Cross gives financial assistance to widows and children of veterans and disabled veterans and the families of men in service when there is a delay or interruption of the family allowance in order to tide the veteran or his family over until the governmental agencies can start sending the federal aid.

Last year the county Red Cross gave $3,085.20 in financial assistance to countians. Some of it was given twice, with families or veterans paying back what they borrowed. In some cases the money was an outright grant to the person needing. Some may be paid back later. Whichever way it goes the Red Cross never bothers to collect. If the person to whom a loan is given never pays back the Red Cross simply marks it off as a grant and lets it go at that.

Heavy Demands Ahead
This coming year, with pensions due to start, with disabled veterans and families needing help, with veterans needing readjustment loans the local Red Cross expects demands for financial assistance to be heavier than ever before.

During the past year the Chapter sent $5,278 on its home service. That amount, chapter officials feel, will be increased during the coming year. One big item of expense is telegrams. During October, for example, the Red Cross sent out 80 telegrams to various parts of the U. S. as part of its home service.

There is a brief moment when there are no visitors to the office and Miss McMillan gets an opportunity to do some paperwork connected with the job. A local Red Cross worker had visited a soldier who is home from an Army hospital convalescing. Each month the Red Cross had been sending

War Not Over

at Harrisburg, called Miss McMillan. Miss McMillan called Fort Meade Red Cross officials and the whole matter was ironed out. The young soldier was given an extension to his furlough until March 24. Originally he was due back March 7.

That settled, it was time to take up another case. A soldier came in to see Miss McMillan. A veteran recently discharged, he has been ordered by his landlord here to move. He wants to know whether or not he has to move and Miss McMillan suggests he see Richard A. Brown, local attorney who has been appointed to handle the legal problems of the soldiers and veterans.

Hours of Work on Reports
While the soldier is talking he mentions a jungle rot growth that he still has from his service in the Philippines. He tells Miss McMillan that a Spanish-American war veteran he knows still has the jungle rot he contracted in the Philippines in the war of 1898. He wonders about hospitalization. In a little while all the information is available. There will be an hour and half of work filling out the forms to be sent to Veterans' Administration headquarters but that will be worked in sometime during the day. The soldier leaves satisfied, soon he will be able to get the medical attention that he needs.

A report comes in the form of a telegram from Camp Peary. The request made the day before for a five-day leave for soldier to attend his grandmother's funeral had been approved. The Red Cross had investigated, found that the grandmother had reared the soldier and that the ties were very close between them. A telegram to his camp had produced the leave. A phone call notified relatives.

A young veteran and his wife come into the office. Both have secured jobs and will start to work within the next two days. In the meantime they have not one cent. Miss McMillan makes arrangements for a loan and the soldier asks what the interest will be. The Red Cross secretary laughs "only your continued interest in the Red Cross."

Widow Is Aided
A widow of a veteran comes in. Her husband has died, but no insurance, no pension have been sent her as yet. The papers have been sent to Washington and the pension and insurance should soon be due, but in the meantime she has no money. The Red Cross takes care of her until her regular income from the insurance and pension starts.

The Red Cross gives financial assistance to widows and children of veterans and disabled veterans and the families of men in service when there is a delay or interruption of the family allowance in order to tide the veteran or his family over until the governmental agencies can start sending the federal aid.

GOD'S CLOUDS

I enthusiastically suggest, as rare medicine, the observation and study of the clouds. Not a moment are they the same. Never has a sky of clouds ever been duplicated. Mystery and beauty hide within them. They are the stuff of poetry and romance. There are no harsh clouds. Velvety vapors they are, continually melting their substance into ever-changing tapestries.

No relaxation is so beneficial, and no meditation so sweetened with the fragrance of the sky, as time spent in viewing the ever-changing forms and amazing beauty of the clouds, against their eternal, heavenly blue.

The littleness of man is emphasized, and the greatness of the Creator illustrated anew. The mere material gains of man shrink and shrivel. Cathedrals in the sky mount above, floating away to their home in a sunset or to some distant destination beyond man's dream. How soothing to the soul, each and every one of these clouds, so friendly, so ethereally perfect. For fifteen summers I have renewed my youth by watching the clouds in a Nova Scotia sky.

Never do I tire in my mind's association with these clouds of ours—God's because He created them, and ours because He meant them for us—and always is my spirit made fresh and my mind clear, filled to overflowing with the blessedness of life, and its opportunity for appreciation of all things in nature. To feed that spirit of yours, look long into the silent parade of the clouds.

In Hawaii the clouds fascinated and thrilled me beyond all expression. They were so dramatic, floating in such a procession of grandeur, above the mountains, and hardly a day passing without a rainbow to bless and spiritualize them. Next I would call attention to the clouds above Miami, in Florida. For hours I have watched them from my sun porch, or from the sandy beach, with their shadows painting pictures of elongated ribbons of color across the blue Atlantic. Yes, indeed, rare medicine to the soul and spirit!

At sunrise and sunset, however, these clouds celebrate with all their pent-up glory. Then it is that God, the artist, paints with His boldest and most exquisite strokes—strokes such as mere man can only imitate upon his canvas, or store away in his memory.

Member S.A.E.

Many a wife has learned to drive a car in an advisory capacity.

If the distributor head cracks, don't be mystified. You'll probably find this is due to condensation and dampness. Moisture gets on the head, causing escape of high tension current during the warming up period. This may be just enough to burn a "path" over the top of the cap and crack it.

Another cause of cracked heads is use of current boosters. You get the same effect when the rotor tip is worn because this also causes an increase in high tension current.

On the Question List

Perhaps they won't be answered to anyone's satisfaction this year but some of the things I and other motorists would like to know are:

Why modern engines do not carry a reserve oil supply?

Why a slow speedometer is so seldom cited as a cause for accidents?

Why motorists are content to display the name of the make of car they drive but wouldn't think of going around with the garment maker's advertisement on the outside of their clothing?

Why the term "shock absorbers" lingers on when it should be called "spring control"?

Why most motorists refer to high octane gasoline as "high test" gas?

A service man who agrees that no one person knows even a small portion of all there is to be learned about automobiles writes me a suggestion regarding the usual test for a slipping clutch. You will recall that the caper is to put the car in gear with engine running and brake tightly set. Then you speed up the engine a little and engage the clutch. The engine should stall immediately if the clutch holds normally. So far so good. I usually suggest making the test in low gear, but my friend believes that it would be less of a shock to clutch and engine to use high.

He is right on that score. But I take the position that the test isn't as convincing in high gear for the reason that an engine stalls so easy in high.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Don't let the smoothness of high octane gasoline blind you to the fact that a collection of carbon in the engine can be harmful even if you don't get a suggestion of knocking. Suppose carbon collects around the rings so that one of them fails to accommodate itself to the cylinder wall. This will produce a score.

"Carbon doesn't confine itself to the cylinders. It accumulates along the valve stems and inside the valve guides. Not only do the guides wear but the stickage which follows is certain to help burn the valves and cause even more serious conditions. Any engine which has a long overdue carbon job will require more extensive and more expensive work on the valves."

As They Are Driven

Drivers who are driven to distraction by noisy valves and valves gear should bear in mind that the trick is to keep away from a "floating" condition wherein the clearances come into maximum play. If the engine is pulling, even moderately, or is being pushed a little by the car's momentum, clearances are partially taken up and there will be less valve noises, assuming there is no valve warpage. In other words, driving has much to do with it. I have been with operators who could make a normally quiet engine seem to be quite a racket maker.

There will soon be the usual mess of detours. When you suddenly come to a rough spot, therefore, remember to let the car roll over it and lose speed naturally, rather than slam on the brakes. It strains overworked springs and axles to apply the brakes.

There are a lot of heedless drivers these days, and not a few of them are still trying the old trick of passing other cars near the crest of a hill. That is why it pays to sound your horn upon nearing the top of a hill, just to warn those coming up the other side.

Capers of the Camshaft

Fortunately for most of us the camshaft isn't something that gets on the sick list too often. Its most common trouble is excessive end-play.

When this happens the shaft starts knocking. Another thing to look for is a sprung camshaft, indicated by a knock. Shafts sprung more than .002 inch should be replaced. Cams can be scored and will make a noise when in such condition. The remedy is to dress them down with an oil stone or a piece of fine emery cloth.

Don't run out of oil, or run the car too hard on a diminished oil

Now that everyone has all the gasoline he can buy it becomes increasingly evident that most people are not using it too wisely. Remember when we thought how lucky we would be if we could get a few extra gallons for a trip to some of the repair shops in search of more special services? Remember how a gallon—just a measly little gallon—would have been quite enough to stop spinning once it has failed to fast idle the engine to keep the bat-

Why the Delay?

Some of the things that spell surer delay in the starting process are no secret, yet for some reason or other in our haste to get under way we are all a bit forgetful. . . . For one thing, the start will be delayed unless the throttle is partially opened up. Much delay is due to not waiting for the Bendix drive to stop spinning once it has failed to (Please Turn to Page 5)

Over 2,000 tests and 17,000,000 miles of the toughest road service back this statement. Add to all this, 3 years' extra experience in synthetic rubber tires.

New, better rubber developed by B. F. Goodrich makes tires wear longer, run cooler, stand more abuse.

An entirely new, stronger cord and more cords per inch, plus an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip provide a 35% stronger tire body, more resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

A new wider, flatter "road level" tread puts more rubber on the road to share the wear, provide more traction, and more safety from skidding.

WARNS GERMANS MAY "GO NAZI"

Nuernberg, March 2 (AP)—A defense attorney, pleading for dismissal of war crimes charges against six indicted Nazi groups, warned yesterday that millions of Germans would turn back to Nazism if they are branded as war criminals for their membership in the organizations.

"There is hardly one family in this country whose relatives were not connected with one of these organizations," said Dr. Martin Loeffler, attorney for the SA—Adolf Hitler's original brown-shirted street fighters.

"If they find themselves branded and ostracized, the effect would be the opposite of that we hoped for," he told the international military tribunal.

Many of the 21 individual defendants in the prisoners' box glared at Loeffler as he declared that condemnation of the organizations would enable the Nazi leaders "to conceal themselves behind the backs of millions."

Many of the SA's 4,000,000 members, he said, were just as ignorant of Nazi war aims as were foreign powers.

Lost Daughter Is Found; Nurse Held

Annapolis, Md., March 2 (AP)—Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor of Charlotte, N. C., were reunited yesterday with their four-year-old daughter Terry, who disappeared three days ago and was found here Thursday. Dr. and Mrs. Taylor arrived at Annapolis at 6:25 a. m. after a plane and automobile trip from Charlotte and went directly to the home of Police Commissioner Thomas G. Basil, where Terry and the 19-year-old nursemaid who posed here as Terry's mother spent the night. The maid is being held for North Carolina authorities, who charged her with kidnapping.

The child and the nurse, who waived extradition under the name Geraldine Ann Gree, were found by police and naval intelligence officers after a tip from Mrs. Helene Seay, wife of Capt. George Cameron Seay of the naval academy.

The alarm for the child was spread when the nurse failed to return to the Taylor home Tuesday.

What Motorists Are Asking
Q. Ever since grinding in the valves on my car there has been a light knock suggestive of a worn piston pin. Since I did not disturb the pins and bearings I can't understand what would cause this noise. C. C. L.

A. Now and again we find that a piston will strike against the protruding edge of the new cylinder head gasket. If you take the head off again be sure to check the gasket carefully.

Q. I have done some measuring and find that there is some toe-in of the rear wheels of my car. Is this the usual condition? J. R. E.

A. Rear wheels should have no pitch or toe-in. Before jumping to conclusions, however, better have measurements taken by an alignment expert. If he finds rear-wheel toe-in indications will be that the car has been in an accident. Wheel wobble may be due to a bent axle or housing.

Q. There is a most pronounced skip in the engine of my car, but only when it gets warmed up. I have checked the valve clearances

Q. On my car the slack in the clutch pedal is increasing rather than decreasing. Can you explain why? It is my understanding that the slack, or the "free play," should either remain about as it is or decrease with use. Wm. T.

Sprays In Small Quantities

The other day a reader wrote us to complain that he has trouble obtaining information about sprays sufficient for one apricot tree. He maintains, and rightly so, that state and federal agricultural authorities usually have the commercial orchardist or the market gardener in mind when advising how to mix or otherwise prepare insecticidal and fungicidal sprays and dusts. Therefore, for the grower of but a few backyard fruit trees or a small home garden the following suggestions are offered, along with the invitation that all readers are privileged to write the editor whenever they have any questions on such matters.

The various insecticides weigh differently. For example, it requires 5 level tablespoonfuls of calcium arsenate to weigh an ounce, while 2½ level tablespoonfuls of Paris green weigh an ounce. This variation increases the sprayer's difficulties unless he has the proper bulk measurements. They are:

Five level tablespoonfuls of calcium arsenate equal one ounce.

Three level tablespoonfuls of hydrated lime equal one ounce.

One and one-half level tablespoonfuls of Paris green equal one ounce.

Two and one-half level tablespoonfuls of superfine dusting sulphur equal one ounce.

Five level tablespoonfuls of copper sulfate powder equal one ounce.

One level tablespoonful mercuric chloride (corrosive sublimate) powder weighs one ounce.

Eight level teaspoonfuls of crocyolite equal one ounce.

Five teaspoonfuls of nicotine sulfate (liquid) equal one ounce.

Five level tablespoonfuls pyrethrum flowers or powder equal one ounce.

Three level tablespoonfuls of talc equal one ounce.

Six and one-half level teaspoonfuls of tartar emetic weigh one ounce.

One standard tablet of mercuric chloride (corrosive sublimate) dissolved in one pint of water forms a 1:1000 strength solution.

One-half pint of nicotine sulfate to 50 gallons of spray is equal to one teaspoonful to one gallon.

If one pound of arsenate of lead is recommended to 50 gallons of spray, as is recommended in two or more applications for peaches, three rounded teaspoonfuls are sufficient for one gallon.

From one to one and one-half quarts of liquid spray is required for 50 feet of row for one application on plants of medium size.

From one to one and one-half ounces of a dust mixture is needed for each application per 50 feet of row of medium sized plants.

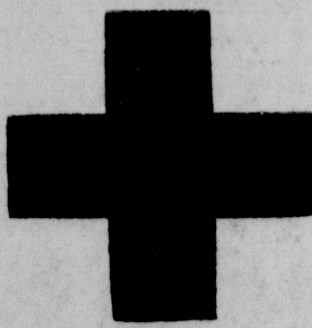

It is always advisable to follow manufacturers' directions when applying trade-name or proprietary spray or dust mixtures.

In all cases of doubt, get the profitable habit of writing the editor to ask all necessary questions before the information is needed.

U.S. TELLS OFF RUSSIANS FOR PLANE ATTACKS

Washington, March 2 (AP)—The United States told Russia off today for two Soviet attacks on navy planes off the Manchurian coast and for the Red Army's removal of Manchuria's industrial equipment.

The two-day protest provided an unexpected follow-up to the speech of Secretary of State Byrnes Thursday foreshadowing a much tougher approach in future dealings with Moscow.

In protesting the attacks on American planes, the navy used very strong language. It termed one incident a "hostile act" and called the other "unjustifiable."

Attack Manchuria Act's
The navy's protest coincided with a State Department declaration that Russia had no right under any Allied agreement to strip industrial equipment from the former Japanese puppet state of Manchuria.

The attacks on American planes both were reported to have taken place in the Port Arthur-Dairen area, and the navy pointed out that under the Russo-Chinese treaty of last August Dairen is supposed to be a free port, open to all nations, but administered by China.

According to the navy, the first Soviet attack on a U. S. plane in this area took place last October, and the second last month.

When the first incident was protested, the navy said, Russian authorities replied the Soviets were responsible for defense of the Port Arthur area under the treaty with China and that U. S. planes must not approach within 12 miles of the coast without previous permission.

Rejected By Navy
The navy rejected this reply, pointing out that the American plane was 25 miles at sea when fired on by Soviet aircraft, and that Russia had never notified the United States it intended to apply a 12-mile limit in Soviet-occupied territory.

Moscow never answered this protest.

It was this incident the navy characterized as a "hostile act." The American plane involved was a Mariner patrol plane on a routine flight to check on shipping in those waters.

The second episode occurred February 20 when two Russian fighter planes overtook another Mariner near Dairen and gave warning bursts of machine gun fire for about ten minutes. The plane was not hit, however, and was able to return to its base at Tsingtao, China.

Didn't Return Fire
The navy declared Russian action in the case was "unjustifiable," but acknowledged the American plane's pilot had disregarded orders and had gone inland from the coast. Disciplinary action has been instituted against the pilot, the navy said.

The announcement stated, however, that:

"The Navy Department is informing the Soviet government that the action of the Russian planes in opening fire is unjustifiable in view of friendly relations existing between the two countries."

In neither instance did the navy planes return fire, the department declared.

military stature with such great leaders as Lee and Napoleon, the general declared: "I've never known a commander who inspired such loyalty or who had a more intuitive grasp of the science of warfare."

Speaking of the bloodless occupation of Japan's mainland, General Willoughby observed that MacArthur's "superb judgment enabled him to sense just how far he could go to make the Emperor and the nation bow to his rule. Had he not made exactly correct decisions the occupation of Japan would have been a bloody affair."

The atomic bomb was the "last straw" for the Japs and broke their will to resist. Without the use of the bomb, the costly victory would have come from one to four months after the invasion of Kyushu, the general believes.

Avoided Chaos in Japan
"MacArthur took over Japan with a handful of men, literally surrounded by 51 divisions of Japanese troops and menaced by an air force of several thousand planes with Kamikaze pilots. We used the only man in Japan who could implement our orders — the Emperor. There were 'continue the war' hot-heads in his council but he cast the deciding vote for surrender. If Hirohito had not been handled as aply as he was, there would have been chaos in Japan."

"We had only a handful of Japanese speaking officers and 4,000 Nisei, whose intelligence work in the Pacific was of greatest value. If the Emperor had quit or been killed, we would have had the impossible task of running Japan."

"In Japan there has been no trouble, no sabotage, no fighting, no deaths — thanks to MacArthur's discreet handling of a situation that had trouble constantly seething beneath the surface."

"Let's leave this brilliant commander alone. There is nothing that a four-power committee can do in Japan half as well as this great patriot and statesman has done and is doing," he urged.

Praises Nisei
General Willoughby has the greatest praise for the services of the Nisei (Jap-Americans). "They were our greatest discoverers of information. They hit the beach with the combat forces — knowing that if they were captured they'd be boiled in oil at least — and rounded up every scrap of paper information they could find — letters, diaries, orders, troop dispositions and so on."

"The Bismarck sea victory brought Intelligence its first big break in the Zeigler property which has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoffman. Mrs. Renoll sold her home property to John Altland in January, and he expects to occupy the place this spring after making some alterations."

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sinner, who have resided at the West End since 1923, have purchased a house in York where they will move in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alwine and sons, Larry and Fred, near town, are preparing to move to the Thomasville section within a few weeks and will occupy the present C. Michael Stambaugh place.

John H. Kunkel, U.S.A., Pine Camp, N. Y., was a visitor during the week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Garcia Bechtel Kunkel, and other relatives, R. 3. He is a former resident of this section.

Prof. and Mrs. Fred V. Baker and sons, Mickey and Billy, Rahway, N. J., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleason E. Smith and family.

Carl I. Sinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sinner, a student at the Eckles College of Mortuary Science, Philadelphia, spent the week-end at his parents' home.

Mrs. Annette Robert March and daughter, Barbara Ann Stony Brook, spent the week-end with local relatives. Mrs. March formerly resided here.

William Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes L. Anthony, has returned to his duties with a government weather bureau in Virginia after a brief visit with his parents and brother, John.

Pacific War

It was probably the biggest single 'find' of the Pacific war. The Jap navy was utterly routed but a handful of survivors — machine-gunned by Australians as they landed — brought ashore a three-volume copy of the latest Japanese army register with 2,700 pages of Jap officers and their latest assignments. Our Nisei translated the document and we supplied copies to all our forces and allies in the Pacific.

"From that day on, by picking up Jap division radio messages, we were able to trace not only the exact location of each division but we knew where most of their officers were at all times."

"We kept casualties at a minimum by gaining complete information on every sector before we attacked. We knew where the tough spots were and avoided them. They were taken from the rear later. I was a company commander in the first World War and I decided then that if ever I was in a position of authority, I would see to it that officers had all the information possible about the territory they were attacking. We supplied detailed maps to every officer, down to platoon leaders, showing the section he was operating in — even down to jungle paths. That helped a great deal."

"MacArthur had the toughest task of any war commander. Through late 1942 and much of 1943, when a vast part of our war plant production was going to North Africa, MacArthur was getting only a drop."

"At the same time he was placed in the position of being unable to lose a single battle. One defeat and the white man would have lost face completely in the Far East and I believe China would have quit."

General Willoughby, a graduate of Gettysburg college in 1914, was in Gettysburg last in 1938. During that visit, he served as interpreter at a luncheon given at the Hotel Gettysburg by General Marshall, then chief of staff, for the Brazilian chief of staff who came here to visit the battlefield.

General Willoughby returned to the Philippines with General MacArthur in March of 1939 to head his intelligence staff. He was with MacArthur at Bataan and went with him in March, 1942, on that hazardous trip by PT-boat and Flying Fortress to Australia.

The general was interested to learn Friday evening that an Adams county boy, Sgt. Henry Pecher, was a member of the crew of one of the four B-17's that went on that rescue mission. Pecher was in one of two planes that crashed enroute to meet MacArthur's party.

It was the tall General Willoughby who met with the first Japanese peace envoys as the Pacific war was ending and he had an official role in the formal surrender ceremonies aboard the battleship Missouri when the Japs quit.

General Willoughby has been in the States for the last month—in Washington, D. C., and visiting with friends. He came here from Bronxville, N. Y., where he was the guest of Arthur J. Singmaster, brother of Mrs. Lewars.

York Springs—Miss Hypatia Diller was hostess Thursday evening when the local WCTU chapter met at her home.

A seafood dinner was served to members of the local fire company and its women's auxiliary at the fire hall on Tuesday evening. The entire work of preparation and serving was done by men of the organization.

Albert S. Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Townsend, a veteran of overseas service with the Army Air Corps, has accepted a position at the Mechanics Naval Supply Depot. After his discharge from the service he was engaged as an instructor at a North Carolina air field.

SPAIN CHARGES 'RED PLOT' TO BRING CHAOS

Madrid, March 2 (AP)—The Franco government declared today that the closing of the Spanish frontier by France and anti-Spanish demonstrations abroad were part of an international Communist plot designed to drag Spain "down into disorder and chaos."

In a 2,000-word communique issued after a lengthy cabinet meeting, the government said the "suffering French people" were not responsible for what it termed an "anti-Spanish campaign."

"It is necessary to make known once again that, under the appearance of false humanitarianism and simulated compassion, there is being developed a new campaign of snares and calumnies against Spain, of which the promoter and active agent is international Communism," the communique said.

Protests against the recent execution of 10 Spanish anti-Fascists were inspired by Communists who glorified "vulgar and common criminals as martyrs of a political idea," the statement asserted.

The communique said the protests followed the regular Communist pattern, and added that this in itself was proof that the protests were part of a Communist campaign.

Border Quiet
The government is "inexorably resolved and decided to maintain order and all firmness and to guarantee national security," the statement continued.

The government said Spain had protected French property during the war, had allowed French soldiers to pass through Spain to join French armies in Africa, and had generally followed a good neighbor policy.

The communique said France, on the other hand, had allowed Reds to organize armed expeditions into Spain, failed to punish the kidnapping and killing of Spaniards in southern France, protected organizations of Spanish terrorists, permitted the launching of an assault of 5,000 men against Spain in October 1944, sponsored an anti-Spanish campaign at international gatherings, and committed other unfriendly acts.

The French-Spanish border, closed officially at midnight yesterday, was quiet during the day.

HOPE FOR 'QUIET' WEEK-END ON PICKET LINES

Philadelphia, March 2 (AP)—Hope was held today for a peaceful week-end with continuance of the truce which ended two days of violence and disorder on the General Electric strike front.

A union spokesman said mass picketing demonstrations were called off "pending developments in the situation locally and in view of possible developments nationally."

Only eight pickets paraded before the GE plant, scene of turbulent street-fighting for two days. The city had posted 575 police officers on guard to enforce a court-imposed ban on mass picketing.

Fog, rain and an order prohibiting GE strikers from parading brought the quiet today. There was no immediate indication of action to carry out a threatened CIO general sympathy strike.

Gather Signatures
After a 50-minute conference yesterday with Harry Block, president of the Philadelphia Industrial Council (CIO) which has threatened a general CIO strike, Mayor Bernard Samuel said he was hopeful of "effecting a peaceful settlement of the difficulties involved."

"There should be some developments within the next few days," he added.

Under the truce yesterday, members of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) turned from mass marching to collecting signatures on petitions to Mayor Samuel protesting police action in smashing parades at the GE plant. For the first time in three days there was no violence. For the first time this week the UERMV workers made no effort to violate an injunction banning mass picketing at GE.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad remembrance of our dear father, Oliver B. Lightner, who departed this life March 2, 1921, and mother, Margaret A. Lightner, July 19, 1939. Gone but not forgotten.

There shall be no pain or sorrow,
There shall be no touch of evil morn,
There shall be no grief, no weeping,
In the land beyond the stars.

Darkest sorrow will grow brighter,
And my heaviest burdens lighter,
Trials may be sanctified,
And our souls in peace abide.

Soon will they in glory meet Soon walk through every golden street.

And sing on every blissful plain
To live in Christ to die is gain.

Gross Is Opposed
To Housing Bill

Washington, D. C. March 2—The present housing shortage will not be remedied by the government stepping in with a gigantic federal home construction program, Rep.
Chester H. Gross, of York, Pa., today warned members of the House.

Gross contended that private enterprise must assume the leading role in providing new homes, as the House neared a vote on the question of the government launching a housing program.

The congressman criticized the appointment of Wilson W. Wyatt, housing expediter, who he described as a "lawyer without practical construction experience."

"This bill should be defeated," he said. "The only thing this bill will do is set up another government bureau with offices in every community with thousands of government employees. It will never produce houses. It is but another spoke in the regimented economy being pushed by the administration."

1,000 Crows Killed
By 1,000 Hunters

New Castle, Pa., March 2 (AP)— Although returns were still elusive this morning, indications were that about 1,000 crows were slain in the Edenburg rookery last night in the greatest bird hunt in the history of Pennsylvania.

Estimates of the size of the flock of crows ranged from 10,000 to 70,000.

Determined to rout out the raucous marauders root and branch, some 1,000 to 1,500 hunters descended on the crows' woodland hideout and blazed away with an estimated $2,000 worth of shotgun shells. So far as could be learned, there were no casualties among the hunters.

Trucker-Pickets
Shut Down Colliery

Shamokin, Pa., March 2 (AP)—Picketing by coal truckers shut down the Susquehanna Coal company's Glen Burn colliery today, idling approximately 700 miners who refused to pass the picket lines.

Vincent Cannon, chairman of the Shamokin Truckers' association, asserted the action was taken because the company declined to sell coal to association members.

POLING SPEAKS

Lewisburg, Pa., March 2 (AP)—Dr.
Daniel A. Poling, pastor of the Baptist temple, Philadelphia, told 61 members of Bucknell university's mid-winter graduating class today that "faith is life's irreducible minimum—the strong stuff from which the earth was molded and out of which new worlds will yet be created."

TRAIN-TRUCK CRASH

Burgettstown, Pa., March 2 (AP)— A locomotive struck and pinned a truck against Racoon creek bridge here yesterday and rescuers had to use acetylene torches to cut two men free from the wreckage.

The head of the sperm-whale is about one-third of the length of the body.

DARK POWER

AP Newsfeatures BY ELISABETH HOLDING

Chapter 4

Di dressed, in a green chiffon frook that suited her very well;
she took pains to look her best, curiously excited at the prospect of meeting this cousin.

"Silly!" she thought. "I suppose it's because I haven't any family."

Coming out of her room a little before six, she found Uncle Peter in the hall, lounging against the wall, smoking a cigar.

"Hello!" he said. "How nice you look!"

"Oh, thanks!" she said. "Uncle Peter, can you lend me a stamp?"

"Haven't such a thing!" he answered. "But if you have any letters to post, give 'em to me, and I'll look after 'em."

But somehow she did not want to give him her letter to Mrs. Frick.

They went downstairs together, into the lounge. It looked very pleasant there now, with three shaded lamps glowing. Di seated herself in an armchair, by an artificial palm, and Uncle Peter stood beside her, whistling under his breath.

As she glanced up at him, a singularly disturbing thought came to her. Was he guarding her?

The impulse seized her to find out. She sat very still for a few minutes, then she rose.

"I'll just run up and get my handkerchief," she said.

"I'll hcp along with you, then," said Uncle Peter. "These lights have a way of going out, and you'd get lost in this barn of a place."

She turned away her head, so that he might not see her face. A panic fear was rising in her; she wanted to get away; she must get away.

"Don't—bether!" she cried, and ran toward the stairs. She fled up the stairs, darted into her room, slammed the door behind her and locked it, turned on the light and sank into a chair.

She began to grow a little quieter, her breathing less labored; she was ready to reason with herself, when the light went out.

She sprang up, all her fears redoubled. There was a soft knock at the door.

She stood motionless in the dark, staring before her. There was another knock.

"It's Wren, Miss."

"What do you want?" she asked, whispering.

"I've got an electric torch here for you, Miss. If you'll open the door—"

MONDAY, TUESDAY

Adventure and romance are the two chief ingredients of Universal's new technicolor production, "Frontier Gal," due to open Monday at the Majestic theatre. Sensational Yvonne De Carlo, is teamed with Rod Cameron again in the new thriller.

"Frontier Gal" is described as one of the season's spectacular melodramas. The picture was filmed, for the most part, against a background of America's magnificent mountain scenery.

Appearing in the supporting cast are Andy Devine, Puzzy Knight, Shelden Leonard, Andrew Tombes and the talented screen newcomer, little Beverly Simmons.

WEDNESDAY

Adventure and sacrifice are twin themes of the unique melodrama, "First Yank Into Tokyo," dealing with a daring American officer who makes his way into the enemy capital on a mission of vital importance. Tom Neal has the title role, as an Air Corps pilot whose knowledge of the Japanese language, qualifies him for the assignment. Facial surgery gives him the outward appearance of a son of Nippon.

The Korean secret service smuggles him into Tokyo with the identity of a Jap sergeant on furlough. There he sets about obtaining data about an atomic bomb from an American ordinance expert in a Jap prison camp.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Ray Milland and Jane Wyman in a scene from "The Lost Week-End."

One of the most talked-about books, Charles Jackson's "The Lost Week-end," is now one of the most talked-about motion pictures. For those who have seen Paramount's picturization of the best-seller, co-starring Ray Milland and Jane Wyman, and due Thursday at the Majestic theatre, declare it to be one of the most unusual and daring films ever made.

The story concerns the shocking experiences of a sensitive, intelligent man during his five days' abandonment to an insatiable hunger for liquor. The devotion of his sweetheart, the patient understanding of his brother, cannot keep him from going off the deep end into an abyss never yet interpreted on the screen. It is not until he sinks to the depths of degradation that he finds himself.

Ray Milland plays Don Birnam, the story's bedevilled hero, and Jane Wyman is seen as Helen, his sweetheart.

Mystery Of Babe's Legs Now Solved

Clementon, N. J., March 2 (AP) — State Police Detective H. C. Armano said Thursday night that the baby's legs found on a dump here last Sat. came from a dissecting study class in a Philadelphia hospital.

Armano said in a recent examination of the dump he found a bottle which gave off an odor similar to the chemical in which investigation revealed the legs had been dipped.

The label, Armano said, enabled him to trace the bottle to the hospital, which he did not identify.

Hospital authorities told him, the detective said, that the legs had been used for instructional purposes by an unidentified physician who has since taken a new post in Washington. The legs apparently had been placed in a trash can in which some discarded belongings of the doctor also had been placed.

Other articles written by Mr. Taylor exclusively for The Times have created wide reader interest. His articles have been more or less of a local nature, of Adams county. His vast store of public knowledge, of men and events, of incidents in the public life of men of national repute will, from time to time, be revealed in his own inimitable fashion in The Times.

First Car

Automobile owners were assigned a number. Most of them had tags made from patent leather, with their number on them, by a local harness maker.

The second car registered in Adams county was one owned by the Rev. Edward R. Laughlin of Fairfield, a son of the partner in the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation. His was a Locomobile, engine number 25, and he registered his vehicle on July 24, 1903. W. B. Merrick, Washington, D. C. was third. His was an Oldsmobile, registered August 20, 1903.
